ACADEMIC REGALIA

The wearing of academic costume is a tradition that has persisted from the Middle Ages, when the first Universities were founded.

The regalia vary slightly from one University to another and, within a University, according to the status of the wearer.

At The University of British Columbia the undergraduate's and Master's gown are black and of the ordinary stuff material.

The colours for the degrees are:

B.A.—University blue	B.Sc.(Pharm.)—Dark green with scarlet cord
B.F.A.—University blue with magenta cord	B.Sc.(O.T.)—Scarlet and white twisted cord on royal blue
B.A.Sc.—Scarlet	B.Sc.(P.T.)—Scarlet and white twisted cord on royal blue
B.Com.—Light grey with black and grey cord	B.S.W.—Magenta

The Bachelor's hood is edged with the distinctive colour. The Master's hood is the same as the Bachelor's, except that it is lined with the distinctive colour. The hood for the M.Sc. (Bus. Admin.) is similar to that of the M.Sc., with grey trim and black and white cord. The hood for the M.Eng. is the same as that of the M.A.Sc., except that it is trimmed with a cord of University blue.

The regalia of the Ph.D. consists of a gown, Cambridge style, of maroon silk with front facing-panel and sleeves of University blue with gold piping; a hood, Cambridge pattern, of blue silk outside and gold lining; a cap, decanal bonnet, of maroon silk with gold cord and tassel. The Ed.D. regalia consists of a gown, Cambridge style, of black stuff, a hood, American style, with lining of light blue and with chevron of University blue, white and gold; a cap, decanal bonnet, of black stuff with gold cord and tassel. # *T*HE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA KILLAM TEACHING PRIZE WINNERS – 1999

Faculty of Agricultural Sciences

Art Bomke Professor

Dr. Bomke is being recognized as an exceptional teacher who is committed to involving learners in real-life experiences. Whether on or off-campus, his openness, ever-present smile, and down-to-earth approach win over his audiences, and bring them to think along with him about the theme he has set. He has the ability to reach his audience by finding the right comfort level for the group, having the group engage in the development of the concepts and ideas as well as recognizing important connections among the principles upon which the presentation was based. His leadership in presentations and discussions is evident, but it is not that of teacher to student; rather that of learning together. This approach instills confidence in the students, making each of them a part of the experience. The overall effect is one of participation and learning rather than one of listening. Dr. Bomke's dedication to his profession and the students of the Faculty has been justly acknowledged; he was named the Agrologist of the Year by the BC Institute of Agrologists in 1982, and was honoured as UBC Aggie Prof. on several occasions and as the Honorary Grad Class President on two occasions.

Faculty of Applied Science

Greg Bond Assistant Professor, Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering,

Since his arrival in 1994, Dr. Bond has deftly blended theory, practical knowledge, and overviews of current software methodology used in a rapidly-evolving software industry in his lectures. Dr. Bond was the first faculty member in the Electrical and Computer Engineering Department to make extensive and effective use of the internet as a supplement to lectures. He also developed novel laboratory sequences for two courses. These laboratories are group-oriented, reflecting the type of industrial environment encountered by ECE graduates. His interest in having the students use up-to-date software tools has led to the donation by two companies of commercial software packages for student use. Dr. Bond has made strong contributions to the development of the very popular Computer Engineering component of the Department's undergraduate curriculum. His critical, innovative thinking and visionary planning was critical in developing the joint Electrical and Computer Engineering and Computer Science Masters Program in Software Engineering. Considering also the strong support of his students, Dr. Bond well deserves a 1999 UBC Killam Teaching Prize.

Sherry McKay Assistant Professor, School of Architecture

Dr. McKay was appointed as an Assistant Professor in the UBC School of Architecture in 1995 and was nominated for the UBC Killam Teaching Prize by students of the School. Concentrating on general concepts and critical reflection rather than listing of facts, her innovative first year course in Architectural History reveals the cultural, political, economic and social driving forces behind the architectural ideas of the times. Student projects in this course require research into a specific period's technology, social structure, aesthetic sensibilities and other factors. In this course she uses the students' individual cultural resources as a base on which to build assignments, discussions and seminars. Dr. McKay also developed an innovative course entitled Spatial Imaginations in the 20th Century as well as developing computer-based software to store and more easily display structural spatial relationships. She and a colleague introduced new month-long, theme-based, study-abroad courses to architecturally interesting sites around the world. These on-site courses involve students doing library research before, and careful documentation during and after the on-site visits. In addition, her enthusiasm, innovation, organization, skill at connecting her own discipline to others, and her ability to challenge students to co-ordinate multiple disciplines in their work, certainly justify her receiving a 1999 UBC Killam Teaching Prize.

Faculty of Arts

Eva-Marie Kröller Professor, Department of English

There are fifty-seven letters of praise in Dr. Kröller's dossier which attempt to capture the enthusiasm she generates among her students. But one paragraph will have to suffice: "Each class seemed to have a delirious inner life of its own... That we could reach this state at all we owed entirely to Dr. Kröller: like all truly gifted teachers she was providing us with guidance while we...were free to proceed with the business of exercising our curiosity. [She] prepared us for an environment of encouragement and rigour, [and] our desire to know blossomed into ideas... Dr. Kröller [has] the ability to be on the periphery and within a debate simultaneously, offering subtle alternative decisions, making an elegant point, or gently re-directing us if we blew too far off course. We became fearless and confident... [and] I had the sensation that the conclusions we were to reach in that room...were in some way vital to the world outside that room." Dr. Kröller's talent is to take these moments of partial knowledge in her classes, and inspire her students with the urgent need to know more. This alone makes her worthy of the UBC Killam Prize for Excellence in Teaching.

Steven Lee Professor, Department of History and the International Relations Program

One metaphor that stands out in the many tributes that Steven Lee's colleagues and students have written on his behalf is that of the "dynamo": a power-house of awe-inspiring and infectious energy. He "fuses." He "rivets." He "weaves" -- and it is no wonder that Macleans "Guide to Canadian Universities" named Dr. Lee one of the most sought-after professors at UBC. "Dr. Lee," writes one of his students, "is perhaps the most talented professor I have yet seen... Outside the classroom he was always willing and available to provide advice. This is one sphere where his interpersonal skills truly shine. While his classroom form is highly kinetic, his office-hour method is subtle yet perhaps more potent. When interacting directly with students Dr. Lee is respectful and engaging, humble and thoughtful, always professional in his demeanour. He is the type of professor students hate to disappoint. Perhaps not surprisingly, in my circles we dubbed him "the students' professor." On behalf of the hundreds of students who cram his courses on Twentieth Century History, Canadian International Relations, and Modern Korea, we are delighted to present Dr. Steven Lee with this UBC Killam Award for Excellence in Teaching.

Paul Mosca

Professor, Religious Studies Program in the Department of Classical, Near Eastern, and Religious Studies

The one quality that emerges from Paul Mosca's letters of commendation is his jovial sense of humour. This is not remarkable in a popular teacher - until one considers the courses for which he is most respected: "The Book of Job and the Problem of Suffering" and "Death in Western Religious Traditions." The other quality that is remarked upon is his "innovative edge" - again, not in itself remarkable, until one considers its application to Ancient Ugaritic and the Bible. As befits a scholar in Religious Studies, he turns his students into disciples by the sheer force of example. One of his students sums up his charismatic teaching in this way: "I remember the many hours I spent with Professor Mosca as an apprentice to a master. I remember and appreciate...the patient attention to detail he modeled for me and other students, and quietly encouraged us to practice.... His example shaped and confirmed for me the conviction that the Hebrew Bible and the culture of the Ancient Near East were worthy of the serious devotion of a lifetime." We, in the Arts Faculty are pleased to bestow on Dr. Mosca a UBC Killam Award for Excellence in Teaching.

Derek Gregory

Professor and Head, Department of Geography

A new word has entered into the vocabulary of UBC's Geography Department. It is "Gregoryish", and it means someone who is superbly trained in the concepts and theories of cultural geography, with a huge delight in challenging ideas, and the confidence to engage with them critically. The most "Gregoryish" teacher in Geography is Derek Gregory himself whose classes (to quote his students) are "singular performances...for which he is impeccably prepared, bursting with enthusiasm and information." "You don't just 'attend' class with Derek Gregory," says a fourth year undergraduate, "you envelop yourself in cutting-edge ideas which make his classes unlike any others we have attended in our upper level work." His graduates write of confidence-building sessions over coffee, beer, lunch and dinner, and sometimes even airplane rides - a highly personalized form of supervision which one of them defines as "freely-given energy." Where does he find the time? The Head of Geography offers the obvious answer: "Derek," he writes, "never stops teaching...In seminar room, graduate centre, lunch place, lecture hall or corridor almost everyone is bound to learn something from this man." We are pleased to present this UBC Killam Award for Excellence in Teaching to this most Gregoryish of interdisciplinary teachers.

Bozena Karwowska

Professor, Slavic Program in the Department of Germanic Studies

Dr. Karwowska has given strength and substance to Slavonic Studies at UBC, and she has attracted students in growing numbers to her courses. It has been a task of dedication, commitment, and strenuous work. It has meant over-load teaching, the development of new technological language programs in Russian and Polish, and the tireless advising of students - what one of Dr. Karwowska's colleagues refers to as "winning hearts." An Honours Biochemistry student writes as follows: "I place Dr. Karwowska at the top of a list that includes thirty-nine different professors [for her] emphasis on individual improvement, innovative teaching style, and encouragement of free thought and independent thinking." She makes learning fun. She creates a vibrant learning environment for her students. She is sensitive and caring. She reveals an "overwhelming devotion to the bettering of her students." The letters of praise in Dr. Karwowska's dossier all help to shape the profile of a teacher dedicated to the development of the individual student, but also to the survival and strengthening of Russian as an indispensable language to linguists and biochemists alike. For these reasons, we award this UBC Killam Prize for Excellence in Teaching to Dr. Bozena Karwowska of the Slavic Studies Program.

Faculty of Commerce and Business Administration

Daniel Gardiner

Director, Undergraduate Program

Dr. Daniel Gardiner has been selected as this years recipient of the Killam Teaching Prize for his contributions at the undergraduate level spanning more than 25 years. In addition to serving both the students and the faculty in his many administrative roles - most recently as the Assistant Dean and Director of Undergraduate Program, Professor Gardiner, or Dr. Dan as his students know him, has consistently demonstrated how to be a true teacher. He has shown an extraordinary dedication to student learning and undergraduate teaching by investing a significant effort in improving the learning environment and in creating new and exiting opportunities for students. He has undertaken more than 50 student projects and has successfully supervised teams in both the Intercolligate Business Case Competition and in the General Motor's Saturn Project. Professor Gardiner has demonstrated that he is keen on conveying ideas, thoughts, perspectives and knowledge in meaningful and inspirational ways. Dr. Dan has an unwavering commitment to student learning and has consistently demonstrated a relentless attitude in challenging assumptions and making students well aware that education does not stop in the classroom.

Faculty of Dentistry

Christopher Wyatt

Assistant Professor, Department of Oral Health Sciences

It gives me great pleasure to recommend Dr. Christopher Wyatt, Department of Oral Heath Sciences as this year's recipient of the UBC Killam Teaching Award. Dr. Wyatt has been most successful in integrating the basic and clinical science aspects of oral prosthetic reconstruction in a format that facilitates both the mastery of clinical competency for the graduating professional and the opportunity for further exploration of alternative therapies as part of a lifelong learning process. His compilation of resource materials, learning modules and problem-based formats serve as models for the entire Faculty. Clinical instructors and students have both benefited tremendously from his innovations, and his open and receptive demeanour have only enhanced his ability to incorporate feedback for continued development in this area of excellence.

Faculty of Education

Deirdre Kelly                      Associate Professor, Department of Educational Studies

Dr. Kelly is called "a great teacher". She is reflective, constantly wondering why a particular approach worked. She is willing to experiment, as indicated by the Social Justice and Humanities innovative approach to teacher education. She is resourceful, collaborative and challenging. She also has great respect for the learner, seeing teaching not as an individual enterprise but as a collective effort. She draws other people into her inquiry and thereby creates a community of people committed to excellence in teaching. Both graduate and teacher education students and her faculty peers laud her teaching as rigorous, demanding, engaging and inspiring.

Jolie Mayer-Smith                      Associate Professor, Department of Curriculum Studies

Dr. Mayer-Smith is considered to be a model instructor by all her students – graduate and pre-service. They comment that her enthusiasm is genuine and unsurpassed; her positive attitude contributes to a classroom climate that is open and free; and that it is truly inspiring to have an instructor who clearly loves her work, her students and the whole institution of teaching. Dr. Meyer-Smith is respected for her leadership, her collegiality, her generous support of the teaching of others and her demonstrated commitment to improved teaching in schools, colleges and universities in B.C.

Faculty of Forestry

John Nelson                      Associate Professor, Forest Operations Program

Prior to joining UBC, he was a forest engineer responsible for designing roads and planning harvesting operations. He was educated at BCIT, UBC (BSF, MBA) and Oregon State University (PhD). He joined UBC in 1983, and has since held a number of teaching and research positions within the Faculty of Forestry. During the past five years, John has taught courses in road design, harvest planning, cable and vehicle mechanics, and forest transportation systems. He is also responsible for the organization and delivery of the 3rd year forestry field school. John believes that problem solving skills are critically important to students, and he regularly uses student projects and challenging/relevant problems to achieve this goal. He is a strong believer in professional standards and accountability and builds these ideals into his courses. He finds it very rewarding to contribute to the education and professional development of our students.

Faculty of Graduate Studies

Bruce Buffett                      Associate Professor, Department of Earth and Ocean Sciences

Dr. Buffett is regarded as a superb scientist and an outstanding teacher and graduate supervisor. This is epitomized by the superlative nature of his many letters of nomination from graduate students and a few quotes from them serve to illustrate Dr. Buffett's positive impact on graduate education at UBC. One student writes, "As well as being exceptional in lectures and seminars, much of Bruce's most valuable teaching is conducted outside the lecture room. Because of his intellectual gifts and genuine interest in a huge range of scientific problems, he is regarded as the most valuable resource person in the Geophysics section of the Department". Another letter states that "Bruce's courses have come to be known by his name rather than their titles, such that if you are a new graduate student soliciting advice on course registration, you will likely hear echoed as a mantra: Take whatever Bruce is teaching and then see what's left". It is with great pleasure and enthusiasm that the Faculty of Graduate Studies recommends Dr. Buffett for the UBC Killam Teaching Prize.

David Ley                      Professor, Department of Geography

On each of the dimensions of research, graduate teaching, and service to the Faculty of Graduate Studies, Dr. Ley has set the highest standards. His teaching dossier is impressive and his current and past graduate students give high praise and regard to Dr. Ley's teaching ability and concern for the understanding and intellectual well-being of his students. A quote from one of his many nomination letters serves to highlight his achievements and excellence as a graduate supervisor and mentor, "David's brilliance as a lecturer and seminar facilitator was, for me, significant in generating a desire to engage with issues and problems relevant to my research and life beyond University". It is with great pleasure and enthusiasm that the Faculty of Graduate Studies recommends Dr. Ley for the UBC Killam Teaching prize.

Faculty of Law

Keith B. Farquhar                      Professor

Ever since he joined the Faculty of Law in 1976, Professor Keith Farquhar has been one of its star teachers. He has specialized in subjects that are conceptually intricate—Trusts, Succession, Private International Law, Family Law and Real Property Law. These always pose two formidable challenges to the teacher. One is to present them in a way that is both comprehensible and accurate. The other is to surmount the technicalities, by showing the law in its social and theoretical context—as a living, human reality. Professor Farquhar meets both these challenges brilliantly. His meticulous preparation, ever-alert sense of humour, and carefully planned classes are legendary. In their nominating statement, Professor Farquhar's students described in a nutshell why he is such a remarkable law professor. "Professor Farquhar takes a difficult and complex subject and makes it intelligible; he takes one of the less dramatic branches of the law and makes it engaging. Whatever field of the law we choose, we will be much more skillful practitioners from having had the great privilege of his instruction." Twenty-three years' worth of UBC Law students would echo this praise of Professor Keith Farquhar.

Faculty of Medicine

William A. Webber      Professor, Department of Anatomy

Dr. Webber has taught continuously in the Department of Anatomy since 1961, as well as in the Biomedical Ethics Program and the History of Medicine course. He continued to teach actively through his terms as Dean of Medicine and Associate Vice-President Academic, and has consistently maintained very high student ratings. He has provided a remarkably high level of contribution to the new medical/dental undergraduate curriculum, and as tutor in small group problem-based learning sessions, and these activities have also been very highly rated. One student evaluation stated, "I'm sure Dr. Webber is the best tutor there is. He is kind, supportive, caring and obviously intelligent. He encourages us. He never interferes too much and my group is generally devastated to have to change tutors and groups". He has provided a strong teaching and education role beyond the Faculty of Medicine in promoting quality of teaching across the campus, and has been a strong advocate for graduate students in the Department of Anatomy. He counsels students on career planning and professional ethics, participates in the Medical Student Mentor Program and is also Student Academic Advisor to ten medical students. He has played an active role in faculty development within the Faculty of Medicine and a major role in fostering the establishment of the Centre for Teaching and Academic Growth. Dr. Webber has served as a mentor to young faculty in the formal mentor program which he helped to establish.

Morris Pudek      Professor, Department of Pathology

Dr. Pudek received his B.Sc. in Biochemistry from SFU, a Ph.D. in Biochemistry from UBC in 1976 and completed his Residency at Vancouver Hospital, Division of Clinical Chemistry, receiving certification in Clinical Chemistry in 1979. Dr. Pudek has been involved extensively in our educational programs since his appointment at UBC in 1980. Dr. Pudek has made numerous contributions through his research publications, hospital service and teaching in the area of Clinical Chemistry, Endocrinology and Immunoassays. He was the first recipient of the Canadian Academy of Clinical Biochemistry Award for outstanding service to the profession of Clinical Chemistry in 1993. He has been an acknowledged success in diverse education roles teaching undergraduates, medical students, residents, and medical technologists and has shown great ability directing and mentoring students. For the past ten years he has run a distance education course for the Canadian Society of Medical Laboratory science, approximately 500 Medical Technologists have completed his program. Dr. Pudek is also the assistant coordinator of the BMLSc Program in the Department of Pathology. He has won several educational awards; perhaps the BMLSc Teaching Excellence Awards that he received in 1993, 1995 and 1997 testify strongly to his educational forte. Dr. Pudek is a natural teacher who enjoys helping others to comprehend and work through problems. He is one of the enthusiastically committed members of the Faculty, providing high caliber instruction for our educational programs year after year. His most recent accomplishment has been to help create and successfully lead the Endocrinology and Metabolism block of the new problem-based learning medical school curriculum.

Dr. Karim A. Qayumi      Professor, Department of Surgery

Dr. Qayumi was born and raised in Afghanistan, educated in Russia, spent time in Portugal and now resides in Canada. He has lived a diverse life and had many life experiences that have brought him a great deal of practical knowledge. In 1989 Dr. Qayumi was appointed Assistant Professor in the Department of Surgery; in 1994 after completion of his postdoctoral fellowship and success in research and teaching, he was appointed Associate Professor. He currently has a cross appointment in Pharmacology and Therapeutics and Pathology. Dr. Qayumi has developed four interactive courses in surgery which provide hands-on training for medical students, and plays an active role in surgical education throughout the world. He is Editor-in Chief of the Journal of Investigative Surgery and has written a book with CD-ROM, entitled "Basic Surgical Techniques" for medical students and interns. He has also developed the computer software program "Cyberpatient" for the enhancement of problem-based learning. In 1997 Dr. Qayumi was the recipient of the H. Rocke Robertson Award for Outstanding Clinical Teaching acclaimed by undergraduate students. He is an inspiring, influential and effective educator whose students have consistently evaluated him with near perfect scores.

Faculty of Pharmaceutical Sciences

Wayne Riggs      Associate Professor, Pharmaceutics & Biopharmaceutics

Dr. Riggs is known by both the undergraduate and graduate students in the Faculty of Pharmaceutical Sciences as an approachable, patient teacher. He is always thoroughly prepared in the classroom, and the high calibre of his instruction has been previously acknowledged through the Bristol-Myers Squibb Award for teaching excellence, which he received in 1994. Dr. Riggs strives to continually improve both the content and the types of learning opportunities provided to students. This is particularly evident in the amount of effort he has put into the creation and ongoing development of a graduate level pharmacokinetics course. Dr. Riggs is very active in the Faculty's curriculum planning process. His colleagues and all his students have acknowledged him as "a teacher who cares."

Faculty of Science

Ian Cavers      Instructor, Department of Computer Science

He teaches the first year laboratory course as well as second and third year courses on discrete structures, numerical approximation and discretization. Dr. Cavers is a dedicated and highly effective instructor who teaches large classes and achieves consistently high teaching evaluations. His students comment on his preparedness, grasp of the material, courtesy, and sense of humour. His teaching abilities have been recognized by his own Department through the 'Incredible Instructor' award which he has won every term since arriving at UBC in 1994. His contributions to undergraduate education extend beyond the classroom to curriculum development. The 'Roadmap to Computing' project, for example, includes interactive tutorials supporting a broad range of computer science courses. Whether delivering lectures, working through the Web, or mentoring students, Ian Cavers is a model educator whose hallmark is excellence.

Lee Gass                      Associate Professor, Department of Zoology

Professor Gass conducts research into the ecology and behavior of hummingbirds. He is a master of the Socratic approach to teaching no matter the size of the class. Using provocative, interactive, process-driven teaching methods, he constantly demands focussed thought, risk-taking and innovation from his students. His interest in the connectedness of knowledge has led to involvement in the Science One program and, recently, the Integrated Science Program where he has been a guiding light. Lee is an ambassador for science whose passion for innovative teaching has inspired generations of students as well as many of his colleagues at UBC, elsewhere in Canada, and abroad.

Jaymie Matthews              Assistant Professor, Department of Physics and Astronomy

Professor Matthews conducts research on the properties and evolution of stars. His introductory Astronomy course is known for its rigour and popularity. It includes computer-based exercises using 'virtual telescopes' and other tools that allow students to make measurements on real and simulated astronomical data. He uses a multi-media approach to his lectures which, by his own admission, he enhances with his bizarre sense of humour. In addition to his impact on teaching at UBC, he has made important contributions to science outreach including Open House, Physics Summer Camps, and talks to schools and other organizations. Jaymie uses Astronomy to address broader issues such as the power and limitations of the scientific method and the value of pure science to society but in all his teaching endeavours, his enthusiasm for his subject is both contagious and inspiring.

T*HE UNIVERSITY THANKS ITS FRIENDS FOR THEIR SUPPORT

An increasing number of UBC alumni and friends are playing a vital role in the life of the university. Their contributions provide key support for UBC's commitment to service through excellence.

Basic support for the university comes from tuition fees and from the Government of British Columbia and the Government of Canada. However, many important areas are not covered by such funding, creating opportunities to support university priorities through private donations. Alumni and friends play a critical role in supplementing government funding to build on UBC's tradition of achievement.

With more than one hundred academic departments, schools, research institutes and centres administered by the faculties, opportunities for support are many and varied. UBC has tremendous expertise among faculty and strong academic programs reflecting community needs on which to build.

The university wishes to express its appreciation to those who demonstrated their commitment to the ideals of the university and their awareness of its needs. Their generosity contributes immeasurably to the vitality and strength of UBC.

Be assured that UBC will strive to continue to merit the confidence and support of its alumni and friends.

For further information about gifts to UBC, please contact the Development Office, The University of British Columbia, Vancouver, B.C. V6T 1Z1, Telephone 822-8900.
